Since 1950, the number of researchers increased 23 times.

Compared to 1990, a researcher in 2001 publishes 40% more.

In 1966, 7 out of 10 researchers remained active more than 5 years.

In 2001, ONLY 1 out of 5 researchers remain active more than 5 years.

At the same time, the number of co-authorships increased 172 times.

In PUBMED DATASET VISUALISATION, 21.5 million papers and 10.8 million authors are present.

Researchers publish more but leave academia sooner.

New diseases and risk factors are emerging.

In 1966, 7 out of 10 researchers remained active more than 5 years.

In 2001, ONLY 1 out of 5 researchers remain active more than 5 years.

At the same time, the number of co-authorships increased 172 times.

Collaboration in Research

Academic Throughput & Retention

Terminology - Evolution